

Shame

John Conlee

We could lie and say that our love died without a reason
There's no lie that's big enough to cover up the truth
Our love died while we stood by and never tried to save it
Now too late is just another way of saying what's the use

Shame, it's a shame what we've done
Laying it all down and just giving up
Shame, it's a shame what we've done
Done to each other and the good name of love

We can't walk away and just pretend it never happened
We can't close our eyes to keep from seeing what we've done
Love was ours, we had the power to make it last forever
But promises were all we made and we broke every one

Shame, it's a shame what we've done
Laying it all down and just giving up
Shame, it's a shame what we've done
Done to each other and the good name of love

Done to each other and the good name of love
