

The Flame

John Denver

Oh, come ye now unto the flame
Keep it through the night
Nourish it and share its warmth
And spend its precious light

The torch is passed among us all
To help us understand
A covenant of brotherhood
That joins our open hand

Oh, come ye now unto the flame
Keep it through the night
Nourish it and share its warmth
And spend its precious light

Eager souls arising now
Hungry for the wind
Each heart knows eternal love
Will bring us home
Will bring us home
Will bring us home again
