

Sunshine

John Farnham

A desperate man with desperate eyes should have come as no surprise
We're living in a world you can't trust no one, no one
We hide from the life we lead
But it's you and I that plant the seed
A broken wife from a broken home
Now these days she lives alone
Packed her bags and wore her dignity, she went walking out
And it's folks like that that I can see
With such a new born touch of clarity

You brought the sunshine, you changed my whole life
You showed me love the way it's supposed to be
and you made me see
You gave me rainbows you showed me all you know about love
You brought the sunshine to me

Now every hour of every day
I heed this truth, never walk away
Cause it's love and I'm in love
Gonna make a change better make our own
So I reach out to the world my friend
And I breathe in when the day begins

You brought the sunshine, you changed my whole life
You showed me love the way it's supposed to be
and you made me see
You gave me rainbows, you showed me all you know about love
You brought the sunshine to me
