

Suzanne

John Martyn

A long time since I saw love in my garden
A long time since I met love at my door
Sometimes I thought I knew you
Sometimes I saw straight through you
Lord I hope I never see you no more.

Where are you now, Suzanne?
Sometime I think I dreamed it from the start
Where are you now, Suzanne
Tell me how to run to your heart.

I was holding on to my imagination
Imagining you'd be the only one
Seemed like every time I kissed you just another way to miss you
I should have known that love was on the run.

Where are you now, Suzanne?
Sometimes I think I dreamed you from the start
Where are you now, Suzanne
Tell me what you've done
Tell me what you do this time,
Tell me what you do to my heart.

Well I know you could have loved the man that I could never be
You know you never loved me like I am
Well I tried so hard to hold you
And never even told you
I knew inside you loved some other man.

Where are you now, Suzanne?
Sometimes I think I dreamed you from the start
Where are you now, Suzanne?

Where are you now, Suzanne
Where are you now, tell me.

The Downward Pull Of Human Nature

Consider this, consider that, consider this You've got to consider this and that
Consider this, consider this
Consider this, consider this.

Did you ever look sideways at your best friend's wife?
Ever consider that sweet married life
Your mind run riot, you know who you are Ever get the feeling that you move too far.

The downward pull of human nature
Coming to take you home
And just the downward pull of human nature
Coming to take you by a storm.

Ever get so drunk that you fell without falling?
Did you feel that six foot destiny just calling you home
Do you ever hear that siren roar in the night

Find that you were wrong, try to believe that you were right.

It's the downward pull of human nature
It's coming to try you on
It's just the downward pull of human nature
Coming trying to take your soul by a storm
Here it comes.

Did you ever go crazy, and try to hurt the one you love?
very next day, you had to beg for forgiveness from the power
You know your pride will always be your fall
You know one day, your will will wither like a flower in the dawn.

Downward pull of human nature
It's coming to try you on
It's just that downward pull of human nature
It's coming trying to take your heart by the storm.

Oh yesterday, looking sideways at your best friend's wife
I know you never considered the joys of that sweet married life
I saw your mind run riot, remember who you are
I know the feeling when you've gone a step too far.

It's just the downward pull of human nature
It's coming every day to take you on
It's just that downward pull of human nature
Coming to take you by a storm.

Just that downward pull of human nature
Coming to try it on
The downward pull of human nature
Just trying to take you by a storm.

Just the downward pull
Just the downward pull
Downward pull of human nature
Coming to try you on.