

THAT'S ALL RIGHT

John Mayall

You told me baby, once upon a time
You said if I'd be yours, you would sure be mine
But that's alright
You're in love with another man, but that's alright
Every now and then I wonder who's been loving you tonight

You told me baby, your love for me was strong
When I woke up this morning, I found our good thing gone
That's alright
You don't love me no more, but that's alright
Every now and then I wonder who's been loving you tonight

So tell me baby, what is wrong with you?
You don't treat me halfway right, like the way you used to do
But that's alright
You don't love me no more, but that's alright
But every now and then I wonder who's loving you tonight

So tell me baby, what is wrong with you?
You don't treat me halfway right, like the way you used to do
But that's alright
You don't love me no more, but that's alright
Every now and then I wonder who's loving you tonight
