In my head, whitely spreading
I engrave you and fly far away
I close my two eyes that see everything
And I want to turn back time and go back to then

Falling like this, falling for you
Even if you can't catch me
Falling once again, falling for you
Can't you embrace me?

The good days and even the painful days
When you look back, was it all just nothing much?
Please say it isn't so
If only my bruised heart, my blank heart can feel again

Falling like this, falling for you
Even if you can't catch me
Falling once again, falling for you
Can't you embrace me?

On top of the sky, blackly spreading
I see myself endlessly falling

Falling like this, falling for you
Please catch me
Falling once again, falling for you
Please embrace me

Even if I endlessly fall, even if I fall to the ground
Toward you, I'm falling for you
I just look at you
