

In the water that sits so still Looking out above the lakebed
Mountains beyond the hill
And up ahead a horizon naked

Drifting in and out
To words we said and words unspoken
Miles from you now
The less we speak the more I'm hoping to know
Where do we go from here?

'Cause nobody ever told me
Or gave me the insight
There's a difference to being happy and proving when you're right
Friends, lovers, even family fade into twilight
Or come through for a reason or a season, or even a lifetime

Feeling the time sit still Looking in and mulling over
The space I've been trying to fill
Now the less we speak
The more I'm hoping to know
Oh, where do we go from here?

'Cause nobody ever told me
Or gave me the insight
There's a difference to being happy and proving when you're right
Friends, lovers, even family fade into twilight
Or come through for a reason or a season, or even a lifetime