

Marooned

John Splithoff

I don't need to stick around I'd rather disappear
Someplace where the signal isn't crystal clear
Float away from the coast
Open up the amaretto

I'll be tuning out the troubles that are taunting me
Carving out the quiet from cacophony
Watch the sun go down
No one else for miles around

I'll be marooned and I'm better for it
On an island in my head
With just you, we're together knowing
There's nowhere else we'd be instead
When everybody's rocking my boat
I don't want to stay afloat
I wanna be marooned with you

Oh, you'll be dipping in and out of dreams and waves
Nothing more important in a warmer place
Let your hair air-dry
Doze off by the ocean tide

And sending out for help will be a distant thought
'Cause I'm never getting tired of the way you walk
And smile on the shore
You're everything I need and more

I'll be marooned and I'm better for it
On an island in my head
With just you, we're together knowing
There's nowhere else we'd be instead
When everybody's rocking my boat
I don't want to stay afloat
I wanna be marooned with you, with you

I'll be marooned and I'm better for it
On an island in my head
With just you, we're together knowing
There's nowhere else we'd be instead
When everybody's rocking my boat
I don't want to stay afloat
I wanna be marooned with you, with you
