

No Comply

Johnny Booth

I spent these years in a deep regression
You put the faith in the palm of his hand
I want to be the voice of future riots
I want to win, it doesn't matter the cost
I dare you to take it
I dare you to take it

Pressing against the machine
It's okay, I didn't feel anything
Pressing against the machine
It's okay, I left and felt nothing

Let go, it doesn't matter the cost
It doesn't matter

I spent these years in a deep regression
You put the faith in the palm of his hand
I want to be the voice of future riots
I want to win, it doesn't matter the cost

I dare you to take it
I dare you to take it
I'll wait for it

Wave goodbye
I speak in words that you don't understand
All your heroes
You'll take the blame for it
I won't be wrong
You'll take the blame for...

I dare you, I dare you to take it
I dare you, I dare you to take it
I dare you, I dare you to take it