

Well Alright

Johnny Cash

I met her at the laundromat, she was washing extra hot
I said, "Don't you need a little help with that big load you got?"

She said no, but did a double take and then she smiled and said,
"I might"

As I rolled up my sleeves, I said to myself, "Well alright, well alright"

I put it on automatic and she sat down on the floor

She said, "Just keep it on medium hot." I've said, "I've done this before"

Then I opened up the dryer and I set it on soft line

She said, "Be gentle with my silken layers." And I said, "Well alright"

Mm hm hm

Mm hm hm

Mm hm hm

Well alright

Her clothes were in the basket folded down, so nice and warm

She headed for the door when I said, "I will take you home"

She said, "I just live up the street," I said, "It's a dangerous night"

Take my arm and I'll carry the basket." And she said, "Well alright, well alright"

The worlds have full of women and the worlds have full of men

And sometimes one or the other opens up to let one in

But the one I met at the laundromat that dangerous beautiful night

Said, "Yes, I do, and yes, I will." And I said, "Well alright"

Mm hm hm

Mm hm hm

Dee doo dee roo doo

Well alright
