CLOCKS

Johnny Drille

Why you so scared of the sunlight?
You only come out in the dead night
Street too dark now I can't see
But I'd be there whenever you call me

Whatever you take is fair
Damsel living up there on my mind
Ride for you whenever you be going somewhere
Meet you all dressed by the road side, road side

See, angel writing in the bonfire
Demon lurking in the park
Can't control my desire
Dark cannot be in the light
Grab a Bible but I can't remember right
Flipping pages in the night
They've come for my soul
I'm in trouble for love
Your love

I was never listening
Wonder why you don't call me
Damn it, I may have fallen
Now my whole world be unfolding
I only got one night
Slowly I'm losing this fight, ya
Damn it, I'm running out of time, yeah

Calling on your angels, please
I beat them in my dreams
When darkness sees me she screams
But I am a necessity
I ain't a fucking star
I'm the whole galaxy
Too bright for you
I'm a bit blinding but
You still try to find me

She say baby no FaceTime (FaceTime)
Come and put your hand on my waistline (Waistline)
Don't worry about it, we got time
You'll be fine, you go dey alright
Now Dela, Dela, Delililah, don't go
I'm in trouble for love
Your love

I was never listening
Wonder why you don't call me
Damn it, I may have fallen
Now my whole world be unfolding
I only got one night
Slowly I'm losing this fight, yeah
Damn it, I'm running out of time, yeah
(Wonder why you don't call me
Wonder why you don't call me)

Damn it, I'm running out of time

When you made friends with your angels
Did they pull you from danger like I did?
Take you to outer space like me?
And I know you'll try to find me
I'm the only one strong enough to burn our bridge
And so I did
