

Right Here and Now

Johnny Mathis

While we stand here wondering why
If it's wrong or right
The moment rushes by
And fades into the night
And the longer that we wait
the more we hesitate
The more the chance we're loosing
We've been given this chance, so let's use it

Right here and now is all the truth we'll ever know
All we can do is trust in where the feeling's going
Right here and now is all that matters anyway
If tomorrow never comes
At least we had today

Everybody get so scared
When something happens fast
They're too afraid to care, afraid that it won't last
And when it comes to you and me
We've got no guarantee this love is gonna make it
But we've been given this chance, so let's take it

Right here and now is all the truth we'll ever know
All we can do is trust in where the feeling's going
Right here and now is all that matters anyway
If tomorrow never comes
At least we had today

And we could get lucky if we make up our minds
We won't regret it, don't ask too much
We just might get it all

Right here and now is all the truth we'll ever know
All we can do is trust in where the feeling's going
Right here and now is all that matters anyway
If tomorrow never comes
At least we had today
