

everything i hate about you

Johnny Orlando

I'm sorry but I have to hate you
It hurts me but I know it's just the only way
'Cause I'm worried if I let you in
Then the scars will open up like the skies before the rain

Yeah, I'm sorry that it has to be like this

I don't like the me who likes you
I don't like the person that you turned me into
'Cause you turn me into everything I hate about you
I don't like the me who likes you
I don't like the way that you make me see through
'Cause you make me see through everything I hate about you

I still wake up in the bed we used to share
I wish the laundry worked on the memories
Memories, ooh-ooh
'Cause your smile is gone, your picture's off my wall
But you still find a way to keep haunting me
(Haunting me)

Yeah, I'm sorry that it has to be like this

I don't like the me who likes you
I don't like the person that you turned me into
'Cause you turn me into everything I hate about you
I don't like the me who likes you
I don't like the way that you make me see through
'Cause you make me see through everything I like about you

Oh-oh, oh-oh-oh
You're like a mirror for all of my flaws
Maybe I blame you 'cause it's all my fault
I'm sorry but I have to hate you

I don't like the me who likes you
I don't like the person that you turned me into
'Cause you turn me into everything I hate about you
I don't like the me who likes you
I don't like the way that you make me see through
'Cause you make me see through everything I like about you
