

Learning to Dance

Johnny Rivers

Ah the crimson moon is rising
The night has opened up it's door
To the land of dreams

And I feel just like I'm flying
Like I've never done before
What does this feeling mean?
Down along the sand
Where silently you wait
Underneath the timeless stars
I see it's not too late

And tonight
I'm learning to dance
I should have done it long ago
But I never took the chance

Now you're standing in the halo
Of the street lamp's mystic glow
Your body's swaying to and fro
And it's calling me to follow
Where those deeper rivers flow
I'm bound to go
How did I ever find a lover like you?
Under your spell
I'm doing things I never thought I could do

And tonight
I'm learning to dance
I should have done it long ago
But I never took the chance

And tonight
I'm learning to dance
I should have done it long ago
But I never took the chance
No I never took the chance
No I never took the chance