

Same Old Thing

JOHNNYSWIM

Same, same, same
Same old thing you said before
Nothing's changed, changed, changed
It's a shame, shame, shame
There's nothing here worth fighting for
Just the same old thing
And I won't give my goodbye again
Not to you
Not to you

We were kids, just kids
Never really knew what loving was
But we swore we did
I won't admit it
If I end up missing my years
I remember it
But I won't give my heart again
Not to you
Not to you
Not to you
Oh, not to you
No no, not to you

There's no ring on the bed, you ain't sleeping in it
Said a prayer in the church we got married in Darling, in the end
I'm not coming back again
Not to you
Not to you
Oh, not to you
Never, never
Not to you

I'm running away, I'm running running away
I'm running away, I'm running running away
I'm running away, I'm running running away
I'm running away, I'm running running away
I'm running away, I'm running running away
I'm running away, I'm running running away

Get me gone
Get me out
Get me gone
Get me, get me out
