

After the calling, after the sunlight
Came and touched my heart
Came and touched my life

After the movement claimed me
After the days that showed me

You were there asking questions
We were asking questions

We were there with open arms
Holding the clouds, holding the clouds
Standing alone

Now that I see this day happening
Now that I see this day happening again

More than every single day
More than every single night

We were standing on the clouds
Looking around at everything
Standing on the clouds

After the sun was dancing for us
After the moon was singing to us
Standing on the clouds... Standing on the clouds

After the earth was spinning for us

After the sun was singing to us
After the moon was singing to us
After the earth was singing

For the love, the love of life
For the love, the love of life

See the earth is spinning
See the sun is shining
See the moon is singing

For the love, the love of life
For the love, the love of life
For the love, the love of life...

Standing on the clouds

Standing on the clouds... Together at last...
