

Wilderness

Jon Bryant

Oh, the moment that
My eyes fell on you
I asked my heart to stop
Giving in too soon

And, oh, the moment that
I first heard your voice
It was the perfect pitch
In a world of noise

Stay with me tonight
Let your senses lose this fight
In the open wilderness of love

Let me show you how
You should never be without
So lay your weary hand on mine
And I'll show you who this heart beats for

Oh, the moment that
You first graced my hand
Oh, I felt the tides
Push my heart to land

So stay with me tonight
Let your senses lose this fight
In the open wilderness of love

Let me show you how
You should never be without
So lay your weary hands on mine
And I'll show you who this heart beats for

Oh, the moment that
You let me kiss your face
You burned in my soul
Never to replace

Let me show you how
You should never be without
So lay your weary hands on mine
And I'll show you who this heart beats for
