

In Bloom

Jon Foreman

Dylan on that speaker warning
He not busy being born is dying
God, I wanna be reborn
I swear my failure ain't for lack of trying

My broken history decomposes
But it's the part in me that's pushing up roses

I'm a desert in bloom
I'm a desert in bloom

The wind is torn, the world's at war
But the butterflies and me keep death defying
The dandelion seeds are born
And all my favorite dreams are when I'm flying

I see the chrysalis going through changes
But every transformation comes in phases

I'm a desert in bloom
I'm a desert in bloom

Let the pain be for a reason
There's a time and there's a season
And I want to see this through
I'm a desert in bloom

Yesterday's tomb, tomorrow's womb
The dark is long but the dawn is soon
The light that you seek is seeking you
Let the dead seed go and watch it grow brand new

I'm a desert in bloom
I'm a desert in bloom

Let the hard times make me wiser
With failures fertilizer
For the flowers on my tomb
I'm a desert in bloom
