

You Alone

Jon Foreman

My soul
Sing the one you know
Sing like a soldier
Whose hopes are running low
I fold
I'm giving up the ghost
I surrender any illusion of any semblance of control

You alone
You alone
You alone
Can heal my soul

It feels like you're running but
you're not getting nowhere
We need your fire, get so cold
It feels you're fading out
Into the jaded crowd
Look to the One who calls you home

You alone
You alone
You alone
Can heal my soul

It feels like you're running but
You're not getting nowhere
We need your fire, get so cold
It feels like you're fading out
Into the jaded crowd
Look to the One who calls you home

You alone
You alone
You alone
Can heal my soul
Come heal my soul