

In & Out

Jon McLaughlin

Driving fast at the end of the summer night
Take me home, take me back, take me inside
It's a tightrope of yellow lines
Speaking slow in the glow of a midnight moon
You're permanent, I'm leaving soon
Any way I go, it's back to you

Drowning and breathing
Staying and leaving
What if we're different than everyone else?
We fall in and out of our selfish patterns
'Cuz no one else matters
What if we're different than everyone else?
We fall in and out of ourselves

No, we won't tell a lie, we'll just pretend
Call me up, call me love, call me just a friend
Just to hang up and do it again
How the hell do you win at a losing game?
Fall apart, fall in love, then we fall in place
Yeah, we grow up but we never change

Drowning and breathing
Staying and leaving
What if we're different than everyone else?
We fall in and out of our selfish patterns
'Cuz no one else matters
What if we're different than everyone else?
We fall in and out of ourselves

We fall in, we fall in, we fall in and out of ourselves
We fall in, we fall in, we fall in, we fall

Into our broken love
But I think that's enough
Drowning and breathing
What if we're different than everyone else?
Staying and leaving
What if we're different than everyone else?

Our patterns
'Cuz no one else matters
What if we're different than everyone else?
We fall in and out of ourselves
We fall in, we fall in
We fall in and out of ourselves
We fall in, we fall in
We fall...
We fall in, we fall in
Fall in and out
Fall in and out
Fall in and out of ourselves
