

Walk Away

Jon McLaughlin

We're not going forward
And we're not going back
The only thing before us is Exactly where we're at
What should be left unspoken
Already left our mouths
And hatchets never buried
Are just lying around

Like an atheist all dressed up
In his sunday best
We're going through the motions
So emotionless
We thought that time would save us
But time just lead us on
To finally become
What we were all along

So if you want to leave you can go
I know I can't stop you anymore
There's too much left to say
So I'll watch you walk away

For some it's still a mystery
For some it's just bad luck
But we're not making history
We're just giving up
And we can gather our belongings
And divide them all in half
But so much that was given
Cannot be taken back

But if you want to leave you can go
I know I can't stop you anymore
So I'll watch you walk away
If you want to leave I understand
And I've run out of reasons and demands
There's nothing left to say
As I watch you walk away
