

In The Room

Jon Reddick

Do you know who's in the room with us, my brother
Do you know who in the room with us right now

He's the very same God who stared death in the face
Took back the keys and kicked open the grave
That's the God who's in the room with us right now

Do you know who's in the room with us, my sister
Do you know who in the room with us right now

He's the very same God who said, "let there be light"
And He'll still be God when the stars cease to shine
That's the God who's in the room with us right now

He is moving
He is moving
Can you feel Him moving now
Whatever you're needing, He can supply
He's the one who's done miracles time after time
That's the God who's in the room with us right now

In all of His glory
In all of His power
In all of His healing
In all of His saving grace
In all of His honor
In all of His kindness
In all of His mercy
Here in this place

Do you know who's in the room with us, my brother
Do you know who in the room with us right now

He's the God who's not scared of the messes we've made
He's waiting for us to say 'come have your way
That's the God who's in the room with us right now
