

After The Tears

Jonatha Brooke

Think of me once in a while
Put in a good word
You're right up there with the stars in the sky
And the tears in my eyes but it's OK
You'd never tell and you'd never say

After the tears have fallen
I'll be better off without you
And I'll say everything I wanted, everything I wanted
To say

Tell me the truth for a change
Now that you're gone for good
What do I do with the love in my heart
Tell me where do I start when I'm lonely, and only

After the tears have fallen
I'll be better off without you
And I'll be everything I wanted, everything I wanted
To be

I can't even picture your face any more tell me
How will I know you, did I ever know you?

After the tears have fallen
I'll be better off without you
And I'll see everything I wanted, everything I wanted
To see

Everything, everything, everything
