

The Night Is Still Young

Jonathan Richman

Here I am driving around at 3 am looking for people who I don't know well they said party at 1:32 and I said yeah I want to go because the night is still young and the band is just cold and I'm tired of spending time all alone well driving around and I can't find nothing maybe she said 1:36 or something I don't want to give up and go home at 1:32 they turned out the light maybe I didn't get the address right but if I go home now I'll never know

and I'm tired of hanging around all alone

Well the party's getting mellow at 5 am that's when the dreamy things happen a green and purple fog begins to glow when you're tired tired and you can't talk straight that's the way I want to communicate because then a certain feeling starts to show and the night is still young and the band is still cold and I'm tired of hanging around all alone.
