

The Sea Was Calling Me Home

Jonathan Richman

I had a dream that the sea was calling me home
But I was scared to go
In my dream, the sea was calling me home

But I was afraid of losing myself
I was afraid of blending in with everyone else
The sea was calling me home

In my dream the sea was calling me home
And I was scared to go
In my dream, the sea was calling me home

But I was so scared of losing myself
Scared of blending in with everyone else
It felt like dying, yes, felt like dying
As the sea was calling me home