

Looking For Satellites

Jonathan Roy

I'm losing sleep looking for satellites
They're so out of reach like you are from me tonight
Cause you won't say what's on your mind
Can't communicate leaving me on the line
So I'm just counting sheep tryna fix you and I

Never felt something so lonely like this
Floating alone in my-
Without your gravity holding me here
On my own in an ocean of
My thoughts
Questioning everything
We got over and over
I hope I'm not spending the rest of my life
Looking for satellites

Staring at stars
Don't know where you are
Nothing but memories
Will they align
Maybe in time
I'll study astronomy
Cause you won't say what's on your mind
Can't communicate leaving me on the line
So I still losing sleep thinking 'bout you and I

Never felt something so lonely like this
Floating alone in my-
Without your gravity holding me here
On my own in an ocean of
My thoughts
Questioning everything
We got over and over
I hope I'm not spending the rest of my life
Looking for satellites

Come away with me
I don't wanna lose your love
I don't wanna lose you

Never felt something so lonely like this
Floating alone in my-
Without your gravity holding me here
On my own in an ocean of
My thoughts
Questioning everything
We got over and over
I hope I'm not spending the rest of my life
Looking for satellites
