

NATURAL

Jonathan Thulin

Talked to god today they didn't say
The things that they used to say
I was afraid to have the conversation
A little r&r with a creator
I've Done a lot thinking bout where I fit
A lotta hiding and a lot of dumb shit
That other god that my mind created
Came alive cause I allowed him

Now I'm feeling comfortable in my own skin
And I hold myself together with no safety pins
Oh
It feels good to let the real me in
Now I'm not responsible for no one else
And I don't gotta be anybody but myself
No
And it really just comes down to this

Maybe I'm God, maybe I'm Satan
Maybe I created them in my own image
Maybe I'm really really really supernatural
Damn if I'm love then maybe I'm fear too
Maybe I'm the only one that I need to pray to
What if I'm really really really supernatural
And maybe that's natural
It's natural, it's natural
It's natural, so natural

Take a trip into my subconscious
Find the things I buried when I wasn't conscious
When did I lose control?
Am I an alien?
Or maybe its the matrix I've been living in, hating in, plugging in Illusions are comfortable, you know

Now I'm tryna plant and put down some roots
And I'm only going places where I see the fruit
Oh
It feels good to save my energy
Had to put the voice in my head on mute
Cause all I ever really wanted was the truth
Yeah, it really just comes down to this

Maybe I'm God, maybe I'm Satan
Maybe I created them in my own image
Maybe I'm really really really supernatural
Damn if I'm love then maybe I'm fear too
Maybe I'm the only one that I need to pray to
What if I'm really really really supernatural
And maybe that's natural
It's natural, it's natural
It's natural, so natural...
