

Spoken For

Jonathan Thulin

You've been through a lot these days,
The rain clouds just won't go away.
Well, breathe in cos the weather's fine,
It's OK, it's OK now.

You cried for so many years,
An ocean that won't disappear.
Well, jump in cos the water's fine,
You're OK, you're OK...

So go, make it known
that your chains are broken,
that your chains are broken.
So go, let them know
that you are forgiven,
that your heart is spoken for.

Your heart has run out of hope,
A disease with no antidote.
Well, let go because healing's close,
It's OK, you're OK...

So go, make it known
that your chains are broken,
that your chains are broken.
So go, let them know
that you are forgiven,
that your heart is spoken for.

Just let your doubting heart make room for something real and just breathe...

Just breathe...

So go, make it known
that your chains are broken,
that your chains are broken.
So go, let them know
that you are forgiven,
that your heart is spoken for