

Hey Love

Jonathan Wilson

I pass you in the yard every morning
I say, "Hey, love," I say, "Hey, my love"
And we dance with our eyes in the sunshine
Don't we love, don't we just love?
And we smile because we know that tomorrow
We'll be seeing one another again
In a world filled with bullshit and sorrow
May it never end

Then we pass on the bridge in the evening
I smack your ass, I smack your ass
It's a senseless act of human emotion
But mostly it's fun, yeah, mostly it's fun
And I love getting to know you more dearly
'Cause with you I am spending my life
And I treasure your vision so clearly
Oh look, I'm tearing up
