

Saved From

Jonny Diaz

You only see me at my best
But heaven knows that I'm a mess
And when the curtain's drawn you might hear a different song
I'll be the first one to confess
That there's a crooked way in me
That hides a light I try to be
I've got this broken heart, stumbling round in the dark
I'll be the first to let you see
I'll let you see

There's no self in my esteem
Any bit of good it ain't from me no
There's no reason I can boast
The good I've got It's not my own no

I'm comming clean, all of my dirt
Through my weakness I have learned
That I can show my saviour's love
If I show you what I've been saved from

I finally reached the end of me
And for the first time I can see
That I am weak where he is strong
I'm letting go to hang on
To the perfect I can't be
No I can't be

There's no self in my esteem
Any bit of good it ain't from me no
There's no reason I can boast
The good I've got It's not my own no

I'm comming clean, all of my dirt
Through my weakness I have learned
That I can show my saviour's love
If I show you what I've been saved from

There's no self in my esteem
Any bit of good it ain't from me no
There's no reason I can boast
The good I've got It's not my own no

There's no self in my esteem
Any bit of good it ain't from me no
There's no reason I can boast
The good I've got It's not my own no

I'm comming clean, all of my dirt
Through my weakness I have learned
That I can show my saviour's love
If I show you what I've been saved from
I'll show you what I've been saved from
