

Never Should Have Lied

Jonny Lang

Only one thing can save me now from this calamity
N' I know it's gonna take a whole lot more than an apology
Well I know I've got so much to lose,
But it hurts so bad to tell the truth.
Oh I, I never should have lied

Well all I need is some help to snap back to reality,
Before I go 'nd reap the wages of living the fantasy.
If I can hold my bluff I'd stay on top,
But I'm gonna hit the bottom wheather I get caught,

Oh I, I never should have lied.
All my life I tried so hard to fake it,
Making new friends, wearing a self disguise
But I know when this sharade is over, over,

Everone will see the real me lurking inside
I never should have lied, no, no, no, no

Well Lord won't you help me win this war going on inside.
There's too many voices fighting in the battlefield of my mind.
When one voice is telling me i should run,
The other one's saying let your will be done.

Oh I, I never should have lied,
No I, I never should have lied

If I decided tell the truth
Oh my friend would let me go
If I could keep my lips strolen(?) straight,
No one will ever know
But either way I'm gonna lose
Oh I, I never should have lied

Please forgive me I, I never should have lied
Oh, no, no sir I, I never should have lied
Ohohoho wish that I, I never should have lied .
