

Everything Everything

Jordan Rakei

If I ruled the world
And I lost my way
Would you go for the wheel
And steer the ship?
'Cause you're the only one I trust with this

Though I need my friends
Would you lead me there?
Would you stand on the rails of something new?
'Cause my heart stopped right in front of you

If I bended time into another life
Would you see it to the end of everything
If I needed it?
If I lose the frame
Would you hold my hand?
Aim it out to the world of saving grace
Just to make them all believe it

I'm not wasting my time
So I'm sure, seeds of a plight
And you are my everything, everything
Everything, everything

If I ever swam against the tide again
Would you move all the flags with your own hands
And shout out to lifeguards on the sand?
And when I try to sing
Or even dare to speak
I'll give you all of the keys
A company
If I ever needed it

And if you noticed
I don't care
'Cause we're always a second from the goods
I could just reach out and scream
On the fringes and seams
'Cause it feels like I'm living in a daydream
And if I'm feeling
Understood
'Cause we're always a second from the goods
I could just reach out and scream
On the fringes and seams
'Cause it feels like a living in a daydream

I'm not wasting my time
So I'm sure, seeds of a plight
And you are my
Everything, everything
Everything, everything
I'm sure, taste of denial
And evermore, enough to requite
'Cause you are my
Everything, everything
Everything, everything
