

Forgive

Jordan Rakei

I can forgive myself
I can forgive myself

If I just took a step
With my right, then my left
I would see that moving sets me free
If I'd known to do it well
I'd see a change within myself
I would feel the other side of real

I can forgive myself
I can forgive myself

If I could ever find another way to show the light
I would know, I'd find it on my own
'Cause my world that's stained in blue
And indigo with shades of you
I should hear the voice of love re-appear

I can forgive myself
I can forgive myself