That's not a topic that comes up
On you know, your GCSE, yeah communication
We can talk about debating and all that stuff
But we don't actually get taught how to communicate
With another person, where you're not shuttin' them down
Or, or you're not hijacking
Or you're not there taking the experience
And, and taking into something completely different

Know when you're shutting down?
Like having a conversation with someone and I will
And I will have shut down and I'm still talking
To this person and they don't even realize
