

Rolling Into One

Jordan Rakei

In the wake of the madness
I held it till it came right
I'm looking on the bright side
While they wreaking the havoc

There's no random access here
Erase what they call memory
I make sure they remember me
Until they disappear

Ooo, I'm asking permission for where I stand (stand)
I don't know where to hide when said and done
Takes more than you will ever understand
It's rolling into one

I wish I'd never seen the danger that life posed to me
Circling all around me
I hope for memories that never fade like her and he Worshiping onto the ground we Fake it till we make it, they'll be dreaming about
Nothing, but us
Take it till they break us, they'll be screaming loud
Misplacing, our trust

Ooo, I'm asking permission for where I stand (stand)
I don't know where to hide when said and done
Takes more than you will ever understand
It's rolling into one

If I had answers, no one listens
I won't get down, with that system
We won't run away, life long prison
Life's too short to leave it to them

But theory tells me, if we wait here
My own story, serves the waitress
Full as a plate as gets, empty questions
Something I can't stomach

Dress me down like, naked clones that
Share their souls for, cheap romantics
Less the antics, we're human here
Intelligence

So as you know, It's all or nothing
Show some grace or, mind my loving
Souls keep swimming, against the current
Show me what love is
Show me what love is
Show me what love is

Ooo, I'm asking permission for where I stand (stand)
I don't know where to hide when said and done
Takes more than you will ever understand
It's rolling into one

Ooo, I'm asking permission for where I stand (stand)

I don't know where to hide when said and done
Takes more than you will ever understand
It's rolling into one
