

RISE

Joseph Arthur

Always try to look around
For a smile
Cause maybe it'll come around
Maybe it'll come around
Maybe it'll come around

We can see over
And we can see past
We can see forever
But can we make it last
We can go under
But we can be brave
Holding our hearts up
Trying to find someone to save

Rise when you hear the cries
And then you make the scene
Run through the hemispheres
And learn to live your dream

We can bare witness
We can be strong
Past the isolation
And nowhere left to belong
We can rejoice
The fears that we had
As much as we're much more open
About the ways we've been had

Rise when you hear the cries
And then you make the scene
Run through the hemispheres
And learn to live your dream

Always try to look around
For a smile
Cause maybe it'll come around
Maybe it'll come around
Maybe it'll come around

No one wants anger
No one wants pain
The way that we hide
Is the way we remain
I know you love me
I love you too
But sometimes love
Can make a fool out of you

Rise when you hear the cries
And then you make the scene
Run through the hemispheres
