

Bye and Bye

Joseph

Crying in the bathroom of the Bye and Bye
Saturday's mascara in my eye
It's Tuesday

Why do I think I know a thing about life
I'm here sobbing like I already died
You could say I did
The girl is gone and I'm what's left

I thought I'd be closer to happy
Be the one to get it all right
I know who I was, was trying her hardest
But it's hard not to blame her in hindsight

Wish I could have warned her
You're gonna hurt someone
You're gonna build it up then let it come undone
You've gotta accept that

In the back of your mind there's a perfect way
To the perfect life but there's no such place
You'll see it after it ends
You're gonna start again, again and again

I thought I'd be closer to happy
Be the one to get it all right
I know who I was, was trying her hardest
But it's hard not to blame her in hindsight

If I could say something to her now I'd say
We don't get a redo
We don't get a redo
And I really really wanna forgive you
We don't get a redo
And I really really wanna forgive you
I know you only knew what you knew
I only know what I know too
I only know what I know

I thought I'd be closer to happy
Be the one to get it all right
I know who I was, was trying her hardest
So how could I blame her

If I could say something to her now I'd say
(Say something to her now)
If I could say something to her now I'd say
(Say something to her now)
If I could say something to her now I'd say