

Your Voice

Josh Baldwin

Even the wind, even the waves obey
Even the stars, even the skies cry out Your praise
You speak and it is done, You are the only One
Even the wind, even the waves obey

Your voice is power, Your voice is louder
Your voice is drowning out the others like a mighty wave
Oh, what a sweet sound, my heart is free now
All of my fears go running when they hear the sound of Your voice

At Your command, even the demons flee
At Your word, every anxious heart finds peace
You speak and it is done, You are the only one
With all of the strength and all the authority

Your voice is power, Your voice is louder
Your voice is drowning out the others like a mighty wave
Oh, what a sweet sound, my heart is free now
All of my fears go running when they hear the sound of Your voice

I can hear You singing, I can hear You singing
I can hear You singing, singing over me
I can hear You singing, I can hear You singing
I can hear You singing, singing over me
Yeah, I can hear You singing, I can hear You singing
I can hear You singing, singing over me

Your voice is power, Your voice is louder
Your voice is drowning out the others like a mighty wave
Oh, what a sweet sound, my heart is free now
All of my fears go running when they hear the sound
Your voice is power, Your voice is louder
Your voice is drowning out the others like a mighty wave
Oh, what a sweet sound, my heart is free now
All of my fears go running when they hear the sound of Your voice

I can hear You singing, I can hear You singing
I can hear You singing, singing over me
I can hear You singing, You're singing over me
That's how I know that I am forgiven and free