

Run

Josh Garrels

The times are changin'
I can feel it in my bones
'Cause I'm standing on the edge of the other side of all that I've known It's been a long time comin'
I take one last breath
With my eyes open wide, smilin' up into the skies it begins with a step

For the world awaits
Like a mother celebrates
A child whose life's begun
Step across that line
Out into the sunshine
O Lord, my time has come
I'm gonna run
I'm gonna run

Strength like a lion burns like fire in my veins
'Cause I will run and I will not grow weary until I'm face to face
I feel the pleasure of my Lord when I'm in stride
For the glory of the Lord is man who is completely alive

For the world awaits... /etc./

I'm gonna run!