Lullaby

Josh Groban

Hush now, baby, don't you cry Rest your wings, my butterfly Peace will come to you in time And I will sing this lullaby

No, though I must leave, my child But I would stay here by your side And if you wake before I'm gone Remember this sweet lullaby

And all love through darkness Don't you ever stop me believing With love forlorn With love you'll find your way, my love

The world has turned the day to dark I leave this night with heavy heart When I return to dry your eyes I will sing this lullaby Yes, I will sing this lullaby