

SEATBELT

Josh Levi

Seatbelt's off, but you won't leave, yeah
How many times do you want what we don't need?

I recognize the hungry eye
Both hands on your side, but you're looking back
Right now say it if you want it laugh out loud
Just let me know

In the moment, moment
Is this something that you do with other friends?
Forget the roses, roses
When you're ready, we can start playing pretend
Like it's something I know
I know that you said that you would never love again
Like it's nothing I know
But I know, that you'll probably wake up next to me again
That's just something I know

Let's stop living like we're sorry
Yeah, we have to leave so we can be the party

Yeah, I recognize the hungry eye
Both hands on your side, but you're looking back
Right now say it if you want it laugh out loud
Just let me know

In the moment, moment
Is this something that you do with other friends?
Forget the roses, roses
When you're ready, we can start playing pretend
Like it's something I know
I know that you said that you would never love again
Like it's nothing I know
But I know, that you'll probably wake up next to me again
That's just something I know
