

Haunt

Josh Ritter

You're always there in my waking
You're always there in my sleep
How strange that for so many secrets
There are always some more you can keep

So go on and take me for granted
Take me for whatever you want
I know I'm not your closest companion
But I am the ghost that you haunt
Yeah I am the ghost that you haunt

Just think back on every time gladly
Think back on every time won't
You just rattle and sigh when you have me
And know that you will when you don't

So go on and take me for granted
Take me for whatever you want
I know I'm not your closest companion
But I am the ghost that you haunt
Yeah I am the ghost that you haunt

There's not much of me you require
Though sometimes I wish that there was
Than to only be here for the fire
And to know that the fire's not enough

So go on and give me abandon
Give me whatever you got
See here, I have built you a mansion
Complete with a ghost you can haunt

So go on and take me for granted
Take me for whatever you want
I know I'm not your closest companion
But I am the ghost that you haunt
Yeah I am the ghost that you haunt
