

Half Lit

Josh Ross

Like that neon hanging on the wall, missing a couple letters
Like a Marlboro left in a tray and barely smoking
Like that in-between, stars coming out, sky burning redder
Like I'm getting on this third drink I'm holding

Girl, we always keep it halfway on, halfway off, halfway together
Half—"come over", half—"we know better"
Baby, we got it half-right, half-wrong
Half-here, and half-gone
Can't put it out, but can't quit
So, we keep on keeping this old flame half-lit

All it takes is a "Where ya at? Come and get me."
And I'm on my way right back down that dead end
Ain't no backing out, or turning 'round when you kiss me
But look at you, baby, who could blame me for wanting you again

Girl, we always keep it halfway on, halfway off, halfway together
Half—"come over", half—"we know better"
Baby, we got it half-right, half-wrong
Half-here, and half-gone
Can't put it out, but can't quit
So, we keep on keeping this old flame half-lit
Keeping this thing half-lit

Like that moon coming through the blinds
Like that look in your eyes

Girl, we're gonna keep it halfway on, halfway off, halfway together
Half—"come over", half—"we know better"
Baby, we got it half-right, half-wrong
Half-here, and half-gone
Can't put it out, but can't quit
So, we keep on keeping this old flame half-lit

Yeah, you know we always gonna keep this half-lit
