

God's Not Mad at You

Josh Wilson

Do you ever have days when you hate yourself?
When you tried it all, but nothing helps
And you just can't pray the pain away
And you wonder if you just need more faith
Or God might move on to someone else

If you feel that way
Let's get a few things straight

1 - God's not mad at you
2 - You are not a burden
3 - There is always hope, even though I know you're hurting
4 - This is not forever
5 - Jesus loves you and so do I
I know it's easy to forget, so when you do
Just count again

If you ever lose faith or hope or love
You can borrow mine till yours catches up
There's no judgment, there's no shame
It's okay not to be okay
So take your time, cause there's no rush
Let's add it up, because

1 - God's not mad at you
2 - You are not a burden
3 - There is always hope, even though I know you're hurting
4 - This is not forever
5 - Jesus loves you and so do I
I know it's easy to forget, so when you do
Just count again

You are seen, you are known
You are never alone
You are chosen, you are loved
And that's more than enough
You are seen, you are known
You are never alone
You are chosen, you are loved
And that's more than enough

1 - God's not mad at you
2 - You are not a burden
3 - There is always hope, even though I know you're hurting
This is not forever
Jesus loves you and so do I
I know it's easy to forget, so when you do
Just count again

Come on, count again
Count it up, count it up
Count again
