

Tonight

Josh Wilson

Tonight, my worried thoughts are racing
Tonight, my heavy heart is aching
It feels like my faith is finally breaking

And I know that You can calm the raging sea
But it feels like You're inside the boat, asleep

Tell me that it's gonna be alright
Jesus, won't you ease my worried mind
I know You say there'll be a day I'll see You with my eyes
But I sure could use a little glimpse
Tonight

Tonight, I need to know You're near me
When I cry, I need to know You hear me
God, speak, 'cause You know I am listening

And tell me that it's gonna be alright
Jesus, won't you ease my worried mind
I know You say there'll be a day I'll see You with my eyes
But I sure could use a little glimpse
Tonight

Jesus, give me joy, even in the sadness
Please let me hear Your voice, even in the silence

Tell me that it's gonna be alright
Jesus, won't You ease my worried mind
I know You say there'll be a day I'll see You with my eyes
But I sure could use a little glimpse
God, help me see You're here with me
Tonight