

Common Sense

Joshua Bassett

Common sense tells me, kiss the girl goodbye
Common sense tells me, leave it all behind
Common sense says, the girl's not worth my time
But common sense ain't common when you come to mind

Common sense told me, she was not worthwhile
Common sense said, don't go the extra mile
Common sense said, go back and reconcile
But common sense forgot about her smile

Second chances are thought of to be weak
Second chances in volumes, do they speak?
Second chances aren't given usually
But a second chance is all I really need

I think I love you (love you, love you, love you)
I want to love you (love you, love you, love you)
Please, let me love you (love you, love you, love you)
I wish to show you how to love

Common sense tells me, kiss the girl goodbye
Common sense tells me, leave it all behind
Common sense says, the girl's not worth my time
But common sense ain't common when you come to mind
No, common sense ain't common when you come to mind