

Mirror

Joshua Bassett

Where did it all go wrong?
Innocence stolen way too young
There's blood on my hands
I don't understand
Where did it all go wrong?
Out on my own at seventeen
No one to tell me who to be
I'm going insane
I'm wasted away
I found a new low at twenty-three

I don't recognize the face in the mirror, in the mirror
There's nowhere to hide from the face in the mirror, in the mirror
The light in my eyes, I can't seem to find
And I don't recognize the face in the mirror
The face in the mirror isn't mine

Ah, ah
The face in the mirror isn't mine

I don't know when I last called my mom
I can't let her know what I've become
It's better to lie, don't tell her you're high
I wish I could talk to my mom
Ooh

I don't recognize the face in the mirror, in the mirror
There's nowhere to hide from the face in the mirror, in the mirror
The light in my eyes, I can't seem to find
I don't recognize the face in the mirror
The face in the mirror isn't mine

Ah, ah
The face in the mirror isn't mine
Ah, ah, ooh

Won't somebody, won't somebody
Won't somebody help me?
Won't somebody, won't somebody
Won't somebody help me?
Won't somebody, won't somebody
Won't somebody help me?

I don't recognize the face in the mirror, in the mirror
There's nowhere to hide from the face in the mirror, in the mirror
The light in my eyes, I lost with my mind
Oh, I don't recognize the face in the mirror
The face in the mirror isn't mine

Ah, ah
The face in the mirror isn't mine
Ah, ah
The face in the mirror isn't mine
