

Falling

Joshua Hyslop

When it all starts coming
When it all starts crumbling down
As the water through a canyon

It weaves and waters all around
I will take the least resistance
I will keep my eyes on the ground
It's been a while since we've spoken
'Cause dear I haven't got the words right now

I'm falling
For answers
To questions
That I cannot face
The reason
I always look away
Look away

In the middle of this moment
If we should rise and fall again
If uncertainty surrounds you
And you cannot seem to catch your breath

Oh remember our intentions
How we left and hoped for the best
We are weathered, we are broken
But we haven't reached the end yet

I'm falling
For answers
To questions
That I cannot face
The reason
I always look away

I'm falling
For answers
To questions
That I cannot face
The reason
I always look away
Look away
Look away
Look away
