

Finish Line

Joshua James

The phone rings in the hour of the devil
[?] on the other line
"Seth's dead" is all I can remember
Flash flood crushing passerbys

What do you do with a broken center?
What do you do with the changin' time?
What do you do when it's only winter outside?
What do you do when you're looking at the finish line?

Well, the fan spits up on the table
Leaving dust on the coffee grind
A race track pushing 90 in the paper
Look around, no one seems to mind

What do you do with a broken center?
What do you do with the changin' time?
What do you do when it's only winter outside?
What do you do when you're looking at the finish line?

Seth's truck dead in the center
100 people come to say goodbye
Now I'm stuck, thinking of a riddle
Of what good comes from suicide?
