

You're My Home

Joshua Radin

If everybody, is making you think you're small
And you need somebody, I wanna be the one you call
I can be the one you need, I'll knock down that wall
I'll be that body to catch you when you fall

You know that sunshine, will come back to you again
Somewhere down the coastline, someplace you've never been
I can wait till ya get it straight, on your knees singing amen
When you see the right sign, I can wait till then

To say let's go
You sing my soul
It's such a long road when you go it alone
Come ride with me, you're my home

Write me a postcard, from another place
Telling me it's so hard, that you can't forget my face
That I was the only one, the one you left behind
The one and only, that never left your mind

Come on, let's go
You sing my soul
It's such a long road when you go it alone
Come ride with me, you're my home

I check the mail every morning
Hoping your letter came without warning

Come on, let's go
You sing my soul
It's such a long road when you go it alone
Come ride with me, you're my home
Come on, let's go
You sing my soul
It's such a long road when you go it alone
Come ride with me, you're my home
